Wednesday, December 17, 2008

Company founder and CEO Joel Bomgar says between 75 and 100 local business and political leaders are confirmed to attend, and about 75 Bomgar employees will be present as well. Total turn-out should be between 150 and 200 people total.

Confirmed attendees include:

- Roger Parrott, President, Belhaven College
- Mayor Gene McGee, City of Ridgeland
- Joey Stroble, CEO, Southern Farm Bureau Life Insurance Company
- John Palmer, CEO, GulfSouth Capital & Investor/Board Member, Bomgar
- U.S. Rep.-elect Gregg Harper

BOMGAR
Executive Summary

Bomgar was recognized in 2008 by both the Inc. 500 and the Fast 500 as the #1 fastest-growing company in Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, or Arkansas.

Bomgar was also ranked one of the 10 fastest-growing software companies in America.

Bomgar has over 4,500 corporate customers in all 50 states and 48 countries internationally (including a nice showing on the Fortune 500).

Bomgar does NOT “do” actual tech support (it is not a services company); it just provides the technology (product) that enables companies (customers) to do technical support anywhere in the world much more effectively by connecting securely to the end-user’s computer over the Internet.

The company has 125 employees, over $20 million in annual revenue, and is growing at over 80% year-over-year.

Bomgar plans to continue to hire aggressively throughout 2009 at its Ridgeland headquarters.

The company is growth-capital backed ($20 million) by Southern Farm Bureau Life Insurance Co. and Skytel founder and former U.S. ambassador to Portugal John Palmer.
